

Permanent Settlement Act- 1793, fully declined in 1950.

1772-1857:

Company conquered maximum area of South Asia except Nepal, Balochistan, Chittagong Hill Tracts through various wars.

1848-1856:

Lord Dalhousie expanded British territory.

1857:

A rumour spread among the soldiers that the grease used to lubricate the cartridges was a mixture of pigs' and cows' lard; thus, to have oral contact with it. A new Enfield rifle was introduced into India that required a soldier to bite off the ends of greased cartridges in order to load the weapon.

1858:

British started to rule in lieu of Company.

1885:

Formation of Indian National Congress

PARTITION OF BENGAL 1905

Lord Curzon

- The decision Partition of Bengal was announced by Lord Curzon, then Viceroy of India in July 1905. This partition came into effect in 16 October 1905.
- It separated the largely Muslim eastern areas from the largely Hindu western areas.

Eastern province (106,504 sq miles) :

- East Bengal Assam, Tripura
- Chittagong, Dhaka, Rajshahi, Malda
- Dacca became the capital of the new province.
- Muslim majority
- Bengali speaking majority
- Sir Joseph Bampfylde Fuller was appointed as the Governor

Western province (141,580 sq miles):

- West Bengal with Bihar and Orissa
- Calcutta remain its capital
- Hindu majority
- Hindi and Oriya speaking majority
- Sir Endro Frezer was appointed as the Governor

Bengal

(1905-1911)

|                         | Bengal(1905-1911) | Eastern-Bengal& Assam (1905-1911) |
|-------------------------|-----------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Area (Km <sup>2</sup> ) | 366,692               | 275,938                               |
| Population (Mn)         | 54                    | 31                                    |
| Muslims (Mn)            | 9                     | 18                                    |
| Muslims (%)             | 16.67                 | 58.06                                 |

REASONS

Official reasons:

- Less administrative burden on government
- Deal with famine and defense
- Attend to remote areas

Other reasons:

- Political reason
- Economic Reason
- Social Reason
- Religious Cause

OFFICIAL REASONS

Till the time of Curzon, the whole area covering Bengal, Bihar and Orissa remained under one administration. It was too big in size. The area of that province was 189,000 sq miles. Its population was nearly 78 million. Its population was nearly double the population of England. Bengal in those days was the biggest province of India. Lord Curzon thought it unwise to keep such a huge area as one province.

1866: A devastating famine was appeared in Orissa. Millions of people died in that famine. Administration could not take proper steps in emergency situation due to the vastness and geographical structure of the province.

POLITICAL REASON

- Destroying Nationalism Thought: Since the Indian Congress was formed in 1885, the middle class Hindu people started developing their political position in Indian politics. The whole politics of Indian Sub-Continent was maintained from Bengal or Calcutta. For this reason Lord Curzon tried to scatter their communication
- Isolation between Hindu-Muslim: The British rulers had succeeded so many times on the basis of 'divide and rule' policy. So they tried to create conflict between Hindu and Muslim community.

- Muslims Demand: Nawab Sir Salimullah, the representative from East Bengal demanded this partition because he thought the East Bengal should come to the limelight.
- ❑ AT that time, the hindu people were majority and very much powerful. So they got the advantage in government services or other business related occupations.
- ❑ Maximum of the Hindu Zamindars collected tax from the east Bengal and invested in Calcutta. So the people of east Bengal were lagging behind.

- ❑ Before the partition of Bengal, Calcutta was the capital of Bengal. So the industries and commercial factories were built centering Calcutta. On the other hand, people of east Bengal were deprived from their rational rights. For example, Jute was produced in East Bengal, but the factories were in west Bengal.
- ❑ As Calcutta was the capital of Bengal, it was the center of politics and maximum rich Hindu people lived in Calcutta. So they did not think about the minority muslim people of the east Bengal.

As a result, Nawab Sir Salimullah thought about the Muslim and showed his logics for the partition of Bengal.

ECONOMIC REASON:

The economy of east Bengal was agriculture related. But they did not try to improve the position of the farmers.

- At that time, Calcutta was the center of the business in east India. Almost every raw materials were produced from east Bengal. For this reason, Calcutta was improving day by day and on the other hand, east Bengal was deprived and undeveloped.
- Chittagong was the center of foreign trade in Assam and east Bengal. But as Calcutta was the center of the trade, so Chittagong could not flourish.
- As the Zamindar lived in Calcutta , they collected the forceful revenue from the east Bengal and made their life comfortable. So the majority of east Bengal supported this partition of Bengal.

SOCIAL REASON

- ✓ In British period, the Hindus were privileged, on the other hand the Muslims were tortured on many ways.
- ✓ the Muslims showed their support to the Bengal partition decision with very much humbleness.
- ✓ On the other hand, the Hindus became furious. Even Rabindranath Tagore wrote his famous song “Amar Sonar Bangla” on the basis of this event.

RELIGIOUS CAUSE

The maximum number of Hindu peoples were lived in the western part and on the other hand , the majority number of Muslim people lived in the eastern part.

So on the basis of religion, the British made this plan to devide the Bengal province into two parts.

It's true that British rule united India , but uniting the people of this subcontinent was never the intention of the British.

Reactions of the Muslim community

Reactions of the Hindu community

REACTIONS OF THE MUSLIM COMMUNITY

- ☐ happy for the partition
- ☐ took Hindus as their antagonist
- ☐ Will able to seek the attention of the British government
- ☐ would be blessings for the economy
- ☐ thought the zamindars will return back, give attention to the poor class

REACTIONS OF THE HINDU COMMUNITY

- ❑ assumed that Chittagong port will make room for the east Bengal and the importance of Calcutta port will decrease.
- ❑ lawyers from Calcutta dependent on the customer from east Bengal. So they feared losing their income if a new high court establish in Dhaka.
- ❑ At that time maximum newspaper were published from western part and the owner of the newspaper were from west bangle. They feared if any newspaper introduce in the eastern part, they could face loss in their business.
- ❑ Hindu zamidars thought the cultivators of the east will go against the revenue system.
- ❑ The politicians of the west thought that they will lose their power on the Indian politics.

WEST BENGAL'S REACTION AFTER PARTITION

- ☐ protests and criticism
- ☐ 'Rakhi Bandhan Utsav' , 'Arandhan' – symbol of communal harmony
- ☐ Hats, shops, school colleges, courts are closed
- ☐ nationalist journalism is a vocal tone
- ☐ Swadeshi Movement
- ☐ 'Bande Mataram' became the main anthem of their movement

EAST BENGAL'S REACTION AFTER PARTITION

- ☐ All Muslims were very supportive to the decision
- ☐ helpful of all development
- ☐ Lower caste Hindus are also very happy

AFTERMATH OF PARTITION

- ☐ Eastern Bengal & Assam province would cover 1,06,540 sq. mile.
- ☐ Muslims & lower caste Hindus became pleased.
- ☐ Dhaka became the capital.
- ☐ Formation of All India Muslim League in 1906.
- ☐ Important buildings, High Court, Secretariate constructed in Dhaka.
- ☐ Development of communication & security.
- ☐ Created new job/service opportunities.
- ☐ Economic development.
- ☐ Development in education sector.

Annulment of Partition of Bengal

☒ The authorities, not able to end the protest, assented to reversing the partition and did so in 1911. King George announced in December 1911 that eastern Bengal would be assimilated into the Bengal Presidency. Districts, where Bengali was spoken, were once again unified and Assam, Bihar and Orissa were separated.

KING GEORGE

REASONS OF ANNULMENT OF PARTITION

- ☐ Protests, movements, violence
- ☐ Swadeshi Movement
- ☐ Newspaper, print media

REACTIONS AND AFTERMATH OF ANNULMENT

- ❖ In 1911, the capital has been shifted from Calcutta to Delhi.
- ❖ The Bengali Muslims were angry and disappointed.
- ❖ Lord Hardinge promised a new University at Dacca in 1912.
- ❖ This resentment remained throughout the rest of the British period.

- ✓ World War I (28 July 1914 – 11 November 1918)
- ✓ The 1918–1920 flu pandemic, also known as the Great Influenza epidemic or by the common misnomer Spanish flu, was an exceptionally deadly global influenza pandemic.
- ✓ 1919- The Government of India ACT of 1919 was an act of the British parliament that sought to increase the participation of Indians in the administration of their country.

